Of Valentines and Bowling

Valentine's Day, as I write this, is fading fast. But the day was highlighted at Rotary club's noon luncheon when somebody sent Fred Cook, erstwhile coach of the club's Bowling Team, congratulations on suspension of the bowling schedule.

S. B. 40 Brought Into Line With the Venue Law

Lookadoo and Mitchell Amend Bill to Meet Objections

LITTLE ROCK —(AP)— Senator G. W. Lookadoo of Arkansas said Friday morning that he and Senator L. Mitchell of Prescott probably would seek passage Friday afternoon or Monday of their bill to provide for state-wide venue act governing filing of personal injury suits.

The bill, passed by the senate two weeks ago, was recalled from the house by its authors, reconsidered, and amended to meet objections that its original wording might have contravened the intent of the venue act. The venue act, adopted by the 1939 legislature, was approved by the voters at the general election last November.

The venue act provided that personal injury suits "shall be brought in the county where the accident occurred which caused the injury or death, or in the county where the person injured or killed resided at the time of the injury."

The Lookadoo-Mitchell bill as originally written provided that suits may be filed in the county where the plaintiff resides or in the county where the cause of the action occurred.

Critics attacked use of the words "may" and "resides," asserting the first was permissive and that under the second a plaintiff in a personal injury suit might change his residence to some other county in order to avoid the strict provisions of the venue act.

S. B. 40 Is Amended
The authors amended the bill to change the word "may" to "shall" and the word "resides" to "resided," thus repeating the wording of the venue act insofar as their bill referred to the filing of personal injury suits. The change the Lookadoo-Mitchell bill would make in the law would provide that legal summons in such suit may be issued in the county in which the suit is filed "and directed to any county in the state for service."

At the time the authors amended their bill to meet criticisms, both senators told the senate they had no intention of altering the venue act but were seeking to make easier service of summons which would be

CRANIUM CRACKERS

State Stumpers

It's generally conceded everyone knows the use now 48 states and that the nation started out with 13, but there are some things about these United States that would stick even a resident of the one involved. Take a tour of the country with these questions about states and see if you can discover the answers.

1. What states are called the Diamond State; the Gem State, the Copper State?
2. What states are named after a U. S. President, after an English king, after an English queen, and after a French king?
3. What was the last state admitted to the Union?
4. Which state lies the farthest north?
5. Name five states named after Indian tribes.

Japs Patrol Siam Coast

Correspondents Say Japs May Attack U. S. Holdings

SAIGON, French Indo-China —(AP)— Japanese correspondents here said Friday that Japanese warships are patrolling the entire French Indo-China coast and the Thailand (Siam) shore as far west as Bangkok.

These sources, whose assertions were not confirmed, said the patrol was set up as a "precaution against possible developments in these waters."

Japan is expecting the Germans to try an invasion of England, the correspondents said, whereupon Japan would move against American interests in the Orient, probably attacking Singapore.

Australians in Review of War

Cabinet Holds Special Session to Discuss War

SYDNEY, Australia —(AP)—The Australian war cabinet consulted with the chiefs of staff in an urgent meeting Friday in the wake of Thursday's official declaration that the war had entered a state of "the utmost gravity."

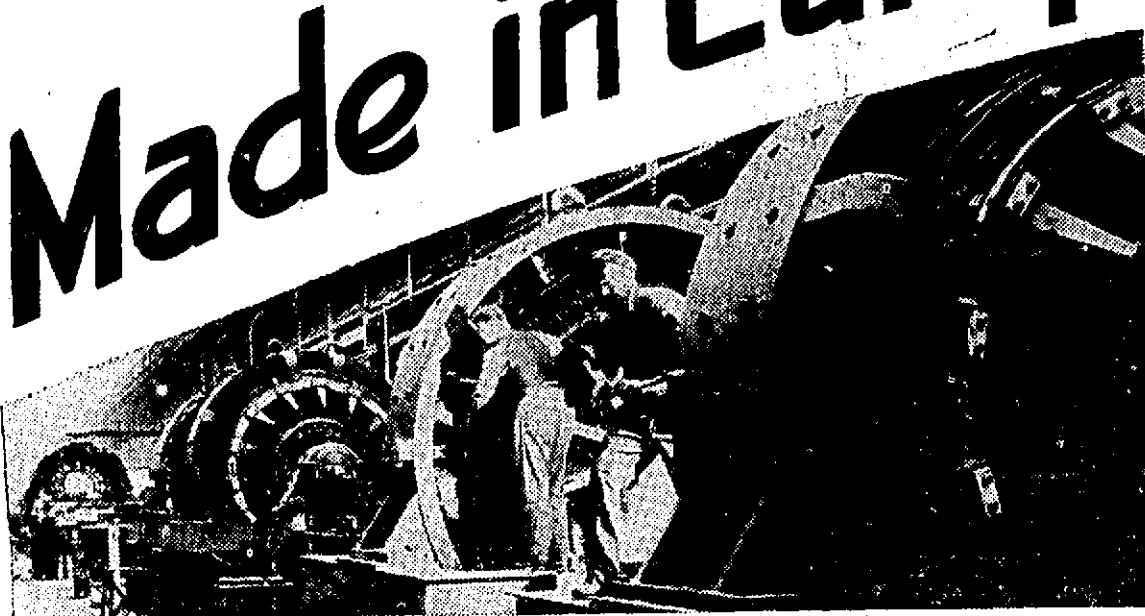

Latest information from overseas, which informed sources said disclosed no further deterioration in the situation, was reviewed.

A. W. Fadden, acting prime minister issued a statement which said: "The war cabinet received reports on the progress of the Australian defense program which were discussed in the light of the most recent cables about the international situation."

"The people of the commonwealth may rest assured that the warnings issued were regarded as necessary so that everybody might be seized with the need for placing the nation's interests first. It is well for the nation to know that, as in the last war, the Australians can and will face any crisis calmly and with deliberate purpose."

Italians Spike Invasion Move

Say British Parachute Troops Are Captured

ROME —(AP)— A landing of British parachute troops armed with machine guns, hand-grenades and dynamite to blow up communications and vital war supply facilities in lower Italy, was reported Friday by the Italian high command, which said all were captured "before they could cause the serious damage which they intended."

The British were said to have clashed with guards on the Italian lookout service and in this clash a civilian police deputy and another civilian were killed, the daily communiqué said.

The attempt by a "nuclei of parachutists," as the high command described them, took place on the nights of February 10-11.

(British military circles in London said they knew nothing about such an attempted landing.)

The communiqué did not give the number of parachutists or the exact place of the attempt. It referred only to the "Calabria" and "Lucania" regions.

Postal Quizz 'Costs' Rotary

Those Failing to Answer Donate to Crippled Children

A quiz program involving questions about the United States postal service asked by Postmaster Robert M. Wilson was presented Hope Rotary club Friday noon at Hotel Barlow by Albert Graves.

Rotarians who failed to answer correctly had to deposit a nickel in the club's bank for the Hospital for Cripples at Memphis—and by the time Postmaster Wilson got through asking his questions the bank was considerably richer.

The club was formally notified by Fred Cook, amid much heckling, that the Rotary bowling team's schedule was suspended indefinitely. The reason, as the club knew, was that the Fair exhibit hall containing the bowling alleys burned to the ground earlier in the week.

Albert Graves reported that the annual Rotary Ladies Night program would be held Friday night, February 21.

Club guests Friday were F. W. Powell, of Hot Springs, and C. C. Lewis of Hope.

Basye on Business Trip Through Canada

Guy E. Basye, general sales manager of Bruner Ivory Handle company, is on a business trip to various Canadian cities which will last through February. In a postcard to the local plant from Alberta province February 10, he reported the temperature through the daylight hours that day to be about 10 degrees above zero.

U. S. Copies Luxuries Once Imported

By TOM WOLF
NEW YORK — American business, industry and agriculture are writing a second declaration of independence in three short words: Made in America.

U. S. the exports of nearly half of the world, this label proclaims an even increasing list of luxuries and necessities that America can and does produce itself. It is part two of a manifesto which the U. S. began to write during the last world war.

From Denmark's lowly spinach to France's exquisite wines, delicate lacers, exotic perfumes; from Czechoslovakia's fragile toys to sturdy German machine tools, America's past reliance on European exports has sometimes been close to a billion dollar yearly business.

America's imports have fallen into two main categories: those luxury lines in which hand labor is a requisite of perfection and in which, therefore, even a tariff-abetted U. S. industry could not hope to compete with low European wages; and certain animal, mineral, and vegetable products not found in North America.

Almost all strategic national defense materials which America lacks fall into this second category. Open sea lanes to the East and the magic of the chemistry laboratory are solving these problems for America—but that is another and often-told story.

From Soup to Nuts
This is the story for the American housewife, and her family. It has been her demands—for her wardrobe and boudoir for her larder and medicine chest, for her living room and nursery—that have made America the world's largest importer of specialties.

Specialty foods have been imported for her literally from soup to nuts. In most of these, stocks now on hand or available in America are very low, and will be gone in another few months. A few, like French truffle will probably disappear entirely. The role of Great Lakes sturgeon may have to pass (some think it will do nicely) for Russian caviar.

But cases like these are in the minority. California sardines are specialties.

Storey Resigns at Prescott

High School Coach Quits for CCC Position

PRESCOTT, Ark. — O. H. Storey, for three and one-half years football and basketball coach at Prescott high school, resigned Wednesday to take a position as educational advisor in a CCC camp at Pocatonton, Arkansas, the Prescott school board revealed Thursday.

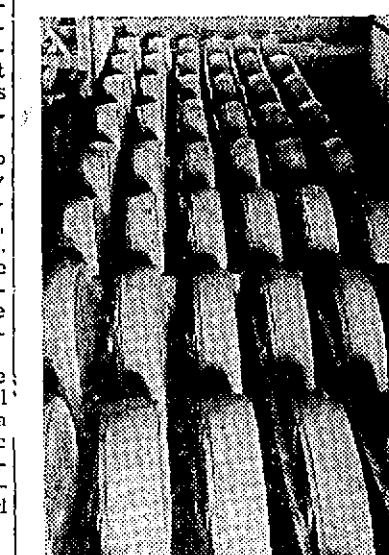

Storey's resignation was accepted Wednesday shortly after his curly-haired coach defeated the Texarkana Razorbacks 36-34.

He left Thursday afternoon for Pocatonton.

No replacement has been made but school officials said that T. M. Honea and Raymond Hillis would coach the basketball team for the remaining three weeks of their season.

The day may come when France will import America's specialty wines.

Not the wheels of industry, but cheeses stored in a curing cellar. America is copying the cheeses that once were imported.

7 Killed in Plant Blast

Terrific Explosion in Illinois Oxygen Plant

DUQUOIN, Ill. —(AP)— At least seven were killed in a terrific blast at a liquid oxygen plant of the Fidelity Coal company five miles west of Duquoin Friday.

"We don't know what caused the blast," a spokesman said, "but an investigation is being made by mine and state officials."

The company spokesman said the men were engaged in unloading a freight car of explosives which was being moved into the plant, but none of the workmen survived to tell about it.

Nazi Military Convoys Roll Into Bucharest

Greeks, Aided by British, Move Up in Albanian Campaign

ISTANBUL, Turkey —(P)— The government-controlled press said Friday that Turkey is prepared to fight, saying, "we cannot be disinterested when a foreign army passes into Bulgaria."

BUCHAREST —(P)— Long lines of German military convoys rolled through the blacked-out streets of Bucharest overnight while Nazi and Rumanian fighter planes patrolled the skies over the capital.

A total blackout was enforced by military patrols and there were continuous instructions to the civilian population over the official radio as to how to behave under air raids.

The newspapers printed columns of instructions on how to treat bomb wounds.

A long trainload of British baggage arrived Friday at the Black sea but it was problematical when the ship chartered to take the British diplomatic staff to Istanbul, Turkey, would weigh anchor.

Representatives of German-occupied countries which have established temporary governments in London are leaving with the British.

Sir Reginald Hoare, British minister of Rumania, still was reported seeking an audience with Premier General Ion Antonescu, in an attempt to straighten out a "lengthy delay" in the sailing which was planned Saturday.

Two American citizens had been given permission to go on the ship.

Greeks Advance
ATHENS —(P)— Geared to the "heaviest and most successful bombing" in the British RAF's Albanian campaign, after 48 hours of artillery preparation, a Greek offensive was reported Friday to have driven the Italians from strongly fortified positions on the central front.

The RAF communiqué used superlative phrases to describe the air assault Thursday and the preceding night in which Tirana, Albanian capital, Durazzo, the principal port remaining to the Italians, and the Tepeleni and Buzi regions were the principal targets.

"Heavy bombers attacked airdromes at Tirana and Durazzo in night raids, hangers and airdrome buildings being hit," the communiqué said.

"Four twin-engined bombers were destroyed by fire at Tirana."

Rumanian Trade Banned
LONDON —(P)— The British government Friday banned trading relations with Rumania with which diplomatic relations were severed Monday.

A board of trade announcement said: "The provisions of the Trading With the Enemy Act are applied in relation to Rumania as they apply in relation to enemy territory."

"It is accordingly a punishable offense," it added, to have commercial, financial or other intercourse with or for the benefit of any person in that territory."

Greeks Call Up Reserves
BITOLJ, Yugoslavia —(P)— Reports from Greece Friday said that the government, apparently in fear of German invasion through Bulgaria or Yugoslavia, had called up several additional classes of reservists.

The Greek air ministry was reported to have called up all reservists of 1933, 1934 and 1935, as well as electrical experts of classes from 1930 through 1937, and other specialists of the class of 1938.

The Greek navy minister, according to these advices, called all remaining reservists of the class of 1936, as well as all nursing personnel from the classes of 1930 through 1940.

Administration to Aid Refund

Adkins Says Roosevelt Promises to Be Helpful

LITTLE ROCK —(P)— Gov. Adkins said Friday he had been assured by President Roosevelt that the administration wanted "to be helpful" in the efforts of the state to refund its 137-million-dollar highway indebtedness.

Reporting to members of the refunding board at its first session after his recent meeting with the RFC, Adkins declared he discussed the proposed refunding with the president at a White House conference. He said Jesse Jones, RFC chairman, had promised "to do everything possible to secure the proper rate of interest" on the refunding bonds.

Flyers Boast a Language All Their Own

Robert Taylor Heads Cast in Super Aerial Production

Every new picture which requires a star to learn some new trade or profession to portray his role authentically, brings with it a vocabulary of technical terms and specialized slang which has been completely foreign to him hitherto.

Which explains why Robert Taylor, Walter Pidgeon, Paul Kelly and the rest of the naval flyers in "Flight Command," which comes Sunday and Monday to the Saenger theater, had to master a new phraseology before they could understand the script, its dialogue and its directions.

Among the completely new expressions which they picked up were the following:

"To feed her the ink," give her the script; "pour on the ink" or "pour in the coal," means to give the plane gas.

Successful Founders' Day Program at The High School Thursday
Mr. T. M. Stinnett, Assistant Commissioner of Education, was the guest speaker at the high school Thursday afternoon, at the 44th anniversary of the founding of National Congress of Parents and Teachers Association.

Seated on the speakers' platform were: Miss Beryl Henry, city school superintendent; Mrs. J. G. Martin, president of high school P. T. A.; Mrs. H. O. Kyles, president of Council P. T. A.; and Mrs. William McCall, pianist.

Mrs. Kyles opened the meeting. The song "America" was sung by the audience. Miss Henry gave the invocation. Mrs. Martin told why we celebrate Founders' day.

Mrs. Alice Birney and Mrs. Phoebe Hearst were the organizers. Mrs. Birney was native of Georgia and wife of a lawyer. Mrs. Hearst was a Missourian. Both ladies lived in Washington when this movement started. Mrs. Martin continued: "Today the P. T. A. exerts influence on every child in the community. Arkansas's first P. T. A. organization was 16 years ago."

In 1925, in 1931 the 35th National Convention was held in Hot Springs, Ark. Miss Henry introduced Mr. Stinnett who said in part: "A Democracy human beings are like a drop of water."

A cordial invitation is extended the public to attend all services at the "Church where the Highways cross."

HOPE GOSPEL TABERNACLE
James E. Hamill, Pastor

"Are body and soul identical?" "Where are the wicked dead at this present time? Are they conscious or unconscious at this present state?" "Is God too merciful to punish His creatures forever?" are some of the questions to be answered in the Sunday night sermon by the pastor at the Tabernacle. The service begins at 7:30 o'clock with a splendid musical program for the first 45 minutes and the sermon to follow.

"The Wedding in the Sky," is the title of the Sunday morning sermon. The service begins at 11 o'clock.

The Sunday school begins at 9:45 a. m. If you are not attending Sunday school elsewhere regularly this is your invitation to visit the Tabernacle Sunday school next Sunday. You will find classes for the entire family, with teachers trained especially to teach your particular age. Your children and yourself should be in church and Sunday school regularly. The hope of America lies not in guns, ships, planes, etc., but in Christian religion. America will be tomorrow what we teach our children to be today! Go someplace to Sunday school Sunday! Lend your present and moral support to the building of a better city, country and world, and in preparing for eternity!

The C. A. Union meets at 8:30 p. m. Each group meeting in its own chapel. At the Tabernacle you are a stranger only once!

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

It is the Reality of What Men Are And Do That Constitutes Religion

Text: Luke 17:1-4, 11-19
By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.
Editor of Advance

This lesson might have been called "Reality in Religion." It emphasizes what Jesus was continually teaching, that it is not what one professes to be, but what one is, that constitutes one's real faith and religion; and that it is not conventional religious rites and performances, but actual deeds of love and kindness, acts of forgiveness and gratitude, that are the fruits of real faith.

Here is this matter of forgiveness. To the Christian who is in any sense a realist it is at the very foundation of religious faith and action. The Gospel which is the very essence of Christianity is the good news of God's forgiving grace and love; and the Lord's Prayer, which is the Christian's most essential expression, links the forgiveness of man with the forgiveness of God. "Forgive us our trespasses as we forgive them that trespass against us."

Yet when we look around us and observe the masses of professing Christian people, how few are ready to show any real forgiveness in the presence of some real wrong done them, or are ready to forgive when the offender shows a repentant spirit! It was so in the time of Jesus. So, when a disciple asked Him how often a brother should offend and be forgiven He said "seven times"—not meaning just seven times literally, but teaching that in reality there was no limit to forgiveness, just as there is no limit to God's forgiving love.

But repentance, Jesus indicated, is necessary to make forgiveness effective. Willingness to forgive cannot alone effect reconciliation and restoration when wrong has been done. Wrong must be undone insofar as at 7:45 p. m. Wednesday. If you have not attended these services, start now and you will see what you have been missing. We have the True Old Time Gospel in the old fashioned way. The Lord is blessing all who seek his blessings. You are always welcome. Come and see.

the offender can undo it. But to, tude. How apt we all are to take treasure up hate in one's heart, even things for granted, failing to show against an unrepentant offender, is either a grateful spirit or to give words of thanks.

Jesus struck at ingratitude with a dramatic incident. As He went into a village, 10 lepers met Him, standing afar off, as lepers were required to do. He healed them, and in their surprise rejoicing they went off to see the priest and have their cure confirmed. Perhaps it was natural that they should think only of the amazing thing that had happened and what it meant to them.

But one of the healed lepers improved on nature. Apparently swept on with his fellows, when he saw that he was healed, he turned back to give thanks, glorifying God. And he as a Samaritan—as much as to say in modern language, an outcast from orthodox religion and the church. Yet he was the man of true religion. When we are going to learn the lesson, that regardless of race, creed, color, or profession, it is the reality of what men are and what they do that constitutes their real religion?

Ice Means Little to New Ford

Visitors to famous Sun Valley, in the Sawtooth Mountains of Idaho, are shown setting out from the Challenger Inn for a day of winter sports. Dog-sledding is one of the popular pastimes in this American Switzerland. Sleds like the one above are drawn by beautifully matched teams of Irish setters and driven by parka-wrapped guides who look as though they might have come right out of the Yukon. The powerful Ford Super Deluxe Sedan in the picture is as much at home in the mountain snows as the dog sled beside it. The car has a special rack on the roof to carry skiers' equipment to the thrilling ski runs on the slopes of the surrounding mountains.

20 Years Ago

From the Files of The Star of Hope

February 14, 1921

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Trimble of Washington attended the performance of "The Bird of Paradise" at the New Grand Theatre last night.
 D. W. McMillan, formerly of this city, but now a prominent attorney of Arkadelphia, was in Hope this morning.
 Mrs. Wilbur Jones and Miss Bill Barrow of Ozon were guests of Miss Pearl Conway yesterday.
 County Superintendent Hugh Clark visited a number of schools in the north end of the county yesterday.
 Jim Reed, merchant and planter, is in town today.
 Clyde Spencer of Okolona is in the city visiting his brother, Lloyd Spencer, cashier of the Hope Savings Bank and Trust Co.
 R. M. Patterson and F. S. Horton have returned from El Dorado, where they spent yesterday making the trip with the Arkadelphia Rotary club.
 Dr. Gaston W. Duncan, pastor of the First Baptist church, spent yesterday in Texarkana.
 John C. Head of Idabel, Oklahoma was a guest at the Hotel Barlow last night.
 Robert E. Dove of Texarkana was in the city today.

Our 4,500,000 Aliens
 The census of aliens being completed, the United States can now take stock of the problem of the non-citizens among us.
 The total enrollment is expected to exceed 4,500,000. That means that one person in 28 in the country is an alien. The figure may reach as high as 5,000,000. We know how many there are, who they are, and where they are. It is now possible to approach the situation on a factual basis.
 First, a caution. The officials in charge of this registration have from the fact that there is nothing disgraceful or creditable about alien status. This has been a factual compilation, and there is no faint suggestion of culpability in the summing, registering, and fingerprinting of all these people. There is no intention to persecute anyone whose only fault is that he is not a citizen of the United States.
 Director Harrison has also warned officials, employers, and others who may now be tempted to demand that aliens produce evidence of having registered, that they were furnished with no receipt on registering, and that not half of them have yet received receipt cards from Washington. This will take five or six weeks.
 Further, the law provides that aliens need not carry receipt cards once received.
 The enforcement of this registration act is a federal matter, through the Department of Justice. While this department may later on request certain local co-operation in identifying those who have failed to register, there is no thought of having the mere fact that a registration has been held turned into a witch-hunt by any individuals who think it might be a good idea.
 Many, perhaps a majority of these registered aliens, are on the road to becoming American citizens just as fast as the law allows. Others will have matters to straighten out with the Department of Justice connected with illegal entry, but even of these a majority will prove quite innocent, their offense being technical and committed back in days when these matters were so important. Only a small proportion, as in any large group, will prove to be malevolent or dangerous.
 The task of winnowing these individuals out of the 5,000,000 is distinctly a professional task—one that belongs, both by law and by common sense, to trained operatives of the Department of Justice.
 Help, co-operation, and sympathy will serve the vast majority of these aliens far better than hounding. In thus serving them, we shall best serve our common country.

Builders of Brain Power

City Youths Age Quicker Than Do Country Boys

Tenth of a series of articles on scientists who study minds and the improvement of mental action.

This morning Dr. Paul Hanly Fur-ley did a half day's work before you or I were out of bed.
 By getting up at 2:30 in the morning, he can work for some four hours without a single interruption or distraction—important for those doing creative, original work. His office is at the Catholic University of America, in Washington.
 Although city boys and himself—he spent his boyhood in Cambridge, Mass.
 Dr. Furley has made basic research studies of both farm and city boys.
 He is an authority on those youths of high school age who often cause their parents' considerable concern during that hectic time of change from boyhood into manhood.
 The changing voice is but one of a large number of physical and mental changes which mark the commencement of manhood. There are nearly 200 in all, Dr. Furley has found.
 From his extensive research, he has made a key by which the "development age" of a boy can be measured to find how near he is to manhood, or how far out of boyhood. He has found that city boys become men at a younger age than do country boys, and that in some cases, boys become men earlier than in others.
 Boys go through three distinct developmental age periods from ages 6 to 16. Dr. Furley calls the period from 6 to about 10 or 11 individualistic. During this period, boys do not play group games; they prefer to play make-believe, and enjoy playing with girls.
 The ages of about 9 to 11 mark the so-called gang age. The boys begin to play team games, have little to do with girls, and are interested in organizing and belonging to some sort of club.
 The third stage starts rather suddenly, and, in most instances, marks the real beginning of manhood. The youth drops his old companions abruptly and takes on new friends, sometimes to his parent's consterna-
 tion.
 He suddenly becomes assertive and rebels at being told what to do or how to do it. He may show a sudden interest in girls, although this is not a major characteristic.
 The sudden assertiveness and independence often cause parents to worry because the son seems to care little for them or the home. The change is perfectly normal, however, and, as Dr. Furley has found, it is just one of the signs that the boy has become a man.
 Dr. Furley has a boyish enthusiasm for amateur photography and art galleries. One of his hobbies has been the study of several rare languages, which he has mastered well.

 Recently he studied Chinese, largely teaching it to himself. To make each minute count, he wrote out lists of the Chinese forms and kept these beside his telephone. While he was talking over the telephone, he would study these words. In somewhat similar fashion, he has mastered Russian and several ancient Semetic languages.

Dr. Furley believes that the greatest need of the world today is a unification of the moral life and a real brotherhood of man, with no class distinctions—not even between city boys and farm boys.

the harm it will do to Johnny's character.
 Anything Grandma gives Johnny to eat is bound not to be good for him.

Growing Up Without Grandma Grandma is made to understand, in no uncertain terms, that she will be tolerated only on a "hands off" agreement. It's kind of pitiful to hear today's Grandma timidly ask Johnny's mother if it is all right for him to have a glass of milk.
 It reminds you that a whole generation of children are growing up without knowing the wonderful feeling of being admired and indulged by a warm, loving, understanding Grandma.

WE, THE WOMEN

From Nursery

By RUTH MILLETT

Grandmothers have lost their place in the world. The formulated, scientifically-raised babies that are growing up today don't know what it is to be spoiled by a doting Grandma.
 Mama sees to that.
 It doesn't matter that Grandma lives in the same house. Because it does not do her any good. Mama knows best—and Grandma doesn't know anything about children, according to Mama.
 If Grandma picks the baby up when he cries, Mama gets "that look" on her face—the superior look of the psychology books, and consequently thinks Grandma who learned about children from having seven is a complete idiot about babies.
 If Grandma tries to feed the baby, or do any other little thing for it, she does it wrong, according to Mama.
 Any attention she gives the baby is sure to "spoil" it—no matter how much attention it gets from Mama.
 "Two Persons Can't Train
 A Child"
 Nope, Grandma has been banished from the nursery. She is looked on as nothing but a nuisance by the young parents of today—a menace to the perfect upbringing of their reared-by-rules offspring.
 And then the baby gets out of the crib and starts running around, and really could use the smiles and indulgence of a fond Grandma—the situation is no better. For Mama says there can't be two persons training
 a child.
 If Grandma slips Johnny a nickel, she is a terrible traitor to Johnny's intelligent young mother who calls it
 "bribing" and tears her hair over

The World's News as Told in Pictures

Reception Committee for Nazi Invasion

With all Britain tense in the belief that the long-awaited zero hour for invasion approaches, maneuvers to meet such an attempt are intensified. Here troops of the Western Command advance, crouching through a cut-over woods section to meet the "enemy."

Uncle Sam's Aerial Blitzmen Go Into Action

Taking a tip from methods used in Europe, the United States Army is rigorously training parachute troops of its own, and here they are in action during maneuvers at Fort Benning, Ga. The troops have just landed "behind enemy lines." While a machine gun (lower left) set up by first airman to land protects the others, three more blitzmen prepare for action.

Boy Fights Plague Peril

A Jewish youngster barely of school age spreads chlorine along a sidewalk as a hygienic measure against the ever-present danger of epidemics in humanity-packed Warsaw ghetto. Note German soldier.

Wheeling Dictator Is This English Gal

Break-neck bicyclist Mrs. Jean Findley bosses 800 air-raid wardens, mostly men, is responsible for welfare of 54,000 people and their 17,000 homes in Essex, England. A. R. P. District Warden Findley also bosses her husband, a volunteer warden.

One Place of Peace Left in Europe

High in the sunlit Swiss Alps, yet undarkened by war, a parish priest celebrates the holy mass, a symbol of peace on top of a continent covered with conflict. Occasion was the placing of a great wooden cross at the peak of 12,969-foot Mt. Bietschhorn above the Lotschen Valley of Switzerland.

Will Girl Scouts Serve? Check

On behalf of her sister scouts throughout the nation, Mary Louise Harrison, District of Columbia Girl Scout, presents Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt with a "promissory note" in Washington. It pledges Girl Scouts to "pay to the order of the people of the United States any required number of hours of service in the interest of national defense."

They Discovered Mutual Interests

Complete informality marked the recent surprise visit of British Ambassador Lord Halifax to Vice-President Wallace, in the latter's Washington office. Chatting, as pictured above, they discovered they are "connected" through the West Yorkshire village of Monk Bretton, where Lord Halifax owns property. The Vice-President's forebears came from there.

These Are Heroes Who Battle London Fire Bombs

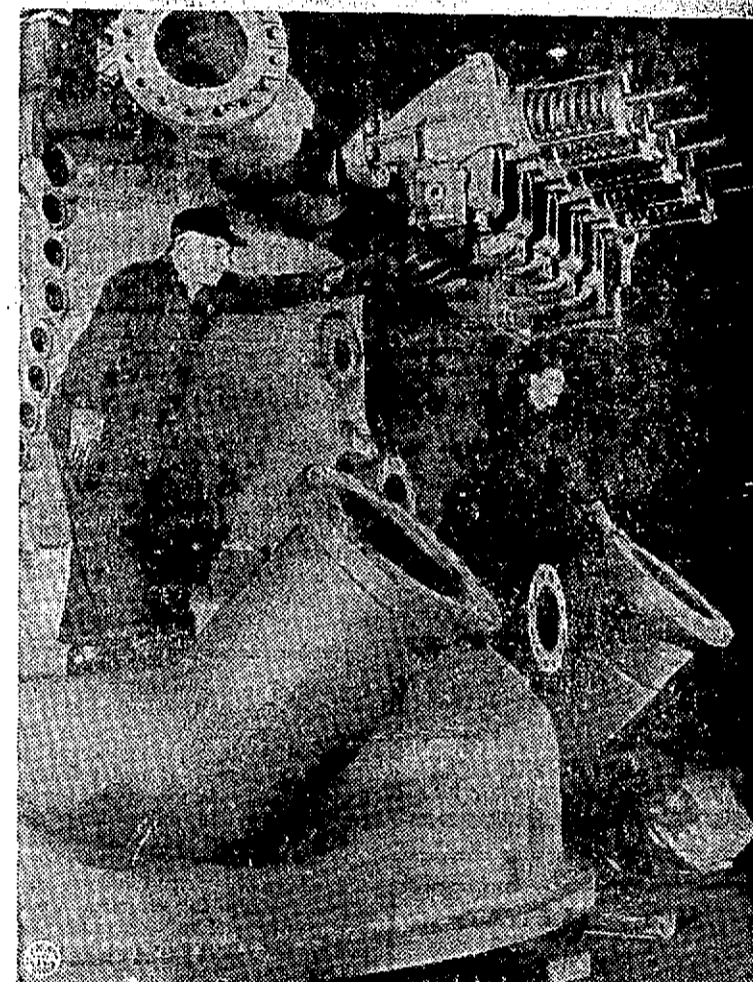

London Boy Scouts brave war terror to perform their daily good turn—a grimly serious task. As one of many schemes to defeat menace of incendiary bombs, scouts act as fire watchers and fire fighters. This quartet from Christ Church, Woburn Square, sets out fully equipped to combat an incendiary bomb. Four boys already have dealt with 20 bombs in their neighborhood.

Wooderson Is Still Running

Though heavy army gear isn't ideal for setting track records, Sydney Wooderson, England's great miler, can't stop running. Now a Lance-Corporal in the Pioneers, he's pictured above hurrying to catch a bus while on leave.

And It Can't Fire a Shot!

It looks like the gun turret of some weird super-super-dreadnaught. Apparently, at upper right, is a battery of pom-pom anti-aircraft guns such as British use. The workmen are standing on what looks like huge mortars. But all that "artillery" couldn't fire a shot. The photo shows the upper half of an 80,000-kilowatt turbine shell being built at the General Electric Co.'s Schenectady plant. But it will generate power to keep wheels of industry turning for national defense.

And It's Supposed to Be Tough to Aquaplane!

The daffy season is in full swing in Florida now, but this gadget seems to make a lot of sense. Towed by three motorboats, the "S. S. Wotta-Life," billed as the world's largest aquaplane, makes its inaugural spin off Miami. It's equipped with palm trees, umbrella, chairs, a snack bar, and fishing facilities.

Chevrolet Has New Process

Current Models Excel Own Predecessors

DETROIT—A manufacturing process in which not one owner in 10,000, probably, has ever heard, is making an important part in establishing the 1941 Chevrolet as the finest product that company has ever built.

The authority for this statement is Henry H. Hefner, national director of service, who bases his comment on reports from dealers throughout the field. The verdict of Chevrolet dealers, which necessarily reflects that of owners, is that the current models excel their own predecessors not only in style, performance, and comfort, but in durability as well.

While visible features, such as vacuum power shift, knee action, and valve-in-head engine sell a great many cars, other features, entirely unseen, often help to keep them sold, Hefner says. "They do this by heightening economy, durability, or some other factor which motivates reasonable buyers in their cars."

Such a feature is the wear-resisting coating which Chevrolet adopted for the cams of its engine camshaft on 1940 models, and which is now used, not only there, but on engine rocker arms and the shifter forks of three-speed transmissions. By means of a chemical process, a protective layer of manganese phosphate is deposited on the metal surface. This substance has the property of absorbing and retaining oil, which insures the friction surfaces, which it is applied, being worked by a mirror-like finish during the break-in period.

This oil-saturated coating maintains a complete film of lubricant between adjacent surfaces, during the critical break in stage, and in that way eliminates scuffing and scarring. It also protects the bearing surfaces from corrosion before the part is installed, and after it is in operation.

Comprehensive tests, which showed this coating to be highly efficient, preceded its adoption by Chevrolet. Parallel tests were conducted on the forged steel rocker arm with bronze bushing and a semi-steel rocker arm without bushing but with the protective coating. The latter came through the test with approximately one-tenth the wear shown by the other arm. The comparison was especially convincing, because rocker arms operate under severe conditions, oscillating at a high rate under intermittent loading from the valve openings.

"Another refinement, introduced in the 1941 models in the interests of durability and long life, and already returning dividends of satisfaction to owners, is the reversing switch, mounted on the starter, to change the polarity at the distribution ignition points each time the starter pedal is depressed."

Arkansas Again Defeats Rice

Razorbacks Have Tough Struggle But Win 48-43

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark.—(AP)—Arkansas' high riding Razorbacks, had to battle all the way Thursday night to win their eighth straight Southwest conference basketball victory, 48 to 43, from the Rice Institute Owls.

The victory washed out the hopes of the Owls to repeat as conference champions and made the Arkansas-Southern Methodist engagements February 28-March 1 the conference title series.

Approximately 2,250 fans saw the Owls battle the Razorbacks on even terms from the beginning although Arkansas opened up strong with Forward Johnny Adams sinking shots from all angles to give the Razorbacks 10-3 lead at the five-minute mark.

Adams left the game by the foul route with 10 minutes to go after registering 17 points—one less than Guard Frank Carswell of the visitors who topped high scoring honors.

Arkansas held a 23 to 23 advantage at half time but after eight minutes of the second half, the Owls, led by Carswell, and Tom Close, moved up one point behind them, 29-28.

Sophomore Gordon Carpenter lead the Razorback attack after Adams fouled out to keep the Owls at bay. He registered 16 points but muffed his chances at individual scoring honors by missing five out of seven free throw shots.

Made in Europe

ing into tins to substitute for, if not replace, the Norwegian. Maine fishermen have built huge new sheds to smoke their own herring. Oregon's prunes challenge the finest of France. A Chicago firm now bakes a good Swedish bread. West Coast olive yield more than an adequate substitute for Italian oil. Connoisseurs say that a New York farmer's smoked turkey pate will blossom taste buds heretofore solely nurtured on French pate de foie gras. A Philadelphia company has gone into crepe suzettes and baba au rhum. Louisiana has just harvested America's first crop of paprika. Texas mustard and California chili will help keep domestic palates spiced.

Domestic Taste Treats Developed

In cheeses, the picture is much the same. French roqueforts and camemberts, Dutch edams and goudas, Italian bel paesas have stopped coming into the U. S.

Most of them are being copied—and well copied—either here or in South America, particularly Argentina. To get a roquefort to match that of France, where the goat's milk is aged in subterranean caves, Americans have even attempted experimental curing in old caves and tunnels.

Far more important in possible long run significance than these copies and substitutes for formerly imported foods is another trend—the development of new delicacies, purely American and copied from no one.

One enterprising New York firm has searched colonial records for the pioneer's recipes to bring America's native taste treats back into their own.

Wine Situation Is Encouraging

Viewed from this standpoint the wine and cordial situation is generally encouraging.

Spirits still flow to America from England, but many of the celebrated wines and brandies of France and Germany and the familiar cordials of France, Holland and Belgium are almost gone. Meanwhile there have appeared a California cognac and some West Indian cordials, like Curacao's creme de cacao and native curacao.

Many wine connoisseurs believe that American wines may never reproduce the precise flavors of the speciality wines once imported. But America is growing delicious grapes, especially for the white wines. The wine merchants establish native American wines, instead of trying to copy the French, the day may come when France will import our specialty wines as we now do theirs.

Progress is now being made in this direction in domestic brandies. New Jersey orchards are yielding a superb apple brandy. New Englanders are experimenting on a distilled maple sugar extract that is said to be as tasty as it is potent.

All in all, Mrs. America can look over the last year's menu without too much of a nostalgic sigh. She is not quite so lucky when it comes to her boudoir. Many importers, foreseeing the crisis, stocked up well in advance, but supplies of some French perfumes are almost depleted. Counterparts cannot quickly be found for the exquisite tuberose or exotic jasmine—the secrets of whose priceless scent have been passed on from father to son for generations of French peasants.

This, of course, does not mean she will be without perfumes. There are a number of fragrant synthetic perfumes on the domestic market, in addition to the oil of natural flowers.

For example, Florida and California produce a good geranium oil. One imported lavender compares favorably to the imported. The native Cape Jasmine of the gulf states (not a real jasmine) may yield, with new formulas, a fine new perfume. From the Texas rose nurseries a fine perfume oil may be found although the high cost of handpicked blossoms in America might price the oil out of reach.

How Mrs. America and her family, cut off from Europe's exports, will fare in other aspects of their daily lives will be told tomorrow.

Flyers to Play at Nashville

Champion Girls Team to Meet Dallas Hornets

NASHVILLE—Basketball and other sports fans all over this section of the state are looking forward eagerly to the basketball game to be played at Whiteside Hall in this city Saturday night, when the National Champion Lewis & Norwood Flyers of Little Rock will meet the Dallas Hornets of Dallas, Texas.

The Flyers are considered the outstanding girls' basketball team in the country, having won 151 games out of 161 played since the team was organized four years ago. They have won two national championships, finished second once and fourth once in the four years the club has been together. The team has made two trips to Mexico City, having gone down in 1938 and defeated the champions of Central America in a series of games, and returned the next year to play the champions of Mexico, which team they defeated in a series of games.

The Dallas Hornets were organized only a year ago, but they are now playing in fast company, and all reports indicate that they are one of the strongest teams in the state of Texas, and may be expected to give the Flyers a hard fight for the game here.

An Ashdown girl, well known here, heads the Flyers. She is Hazel Walker, forward, seven times all-American forward, and also national free throw champion and present holder of this title. She is considered in national circles as one of the greatest girl basketball players of all time.

Glider Bill Is Introduced

Calls For Glider Training Before Plane Flying

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON—The coat-tails of national defense certainly are weighed down. There are more things (and people) riding on them than you could shake a bomber at. I don't mean to say that these things (and people) are good or bad. It will take that

Looking beyond the purely defense phase, he says, "When war emerged, conditions have changed and the newly expanded aircraft industry of this country returns to peacetime production, this program would prove of inestimable value" . . . by developing an increasing interest in aviation and bringing about an expansion in civilian flying.

No more had Mr. Costello's words got out of his mouth than Baron Franz von Werra, a Nazi pilot who had been captured and sent to prison camp in Canada, was arrested in upstate New York and charged with illegally entering this country. The Baron, it seems, had escaped. But in his interview, he gave Mr. Costello's bill a terrific boost. He said the Nazi are experimenting with transport of troops by gliders, towed in tandem by big bombers. Each glider, he declared, would carry about 50 men and would be detached over any specified area to provide an invading force far superior in numbers to the parachute troops.

It's far too early to predict, but maybe Mr. Costello's swing on the coat-tails of national defense is going to end in the new wings over America. It has had a pretty auspicious take-off.

"The United States will not slide backward in aviation if the young men of America glide forward in their training in the air. In order to make sure of America's supremacy in aviation, I have introduced a bill providing for a program of training glider pilots throughout the nation which would be carried on by the Civil Aeronautics Authority."

"Under this bill, the CAA will be authorized to train as many glider pilots as they deem proper. This phase of aviation has been entirely neglected heretofore in the United States, so that today there are scarcely 200 glider clubs in the whole nation. According to the CAA statistics, there are only 124 licensed gliders in this country, with 120 private glider pilots registered and licensed and only 45 commercial glider pilots. The glider training program will bridge the gap for some 2,000 youngsters in this country who are today flying model planes with rubber bands, but who aim to fly real airplanes as soon as they grow up."

"It is interesting to note that Germany has for years carried on a program of glider training which has resulted in some 250,000 to 300,000 young Germans having been trained as glider pilots. It is from these trained and experienced young men that Germany is today obtaining her great mass of pilots for the armed forces."

Pointing out that the army and navy are perfectly capable of training, in short time, men for the "regular" branches of the service and that there are some 50,000 "radio hams" (amateurs) in the country who supply a backlog and important reserve for the Signal Corps, Mr. Costello contends that his bill will fill the one important gap in preliminary training for the military forces.

Looks Beyond Purely Defense

Looking beyond the purely defense phase, he says, "When war emerged, conditions have changed and the newly expanded aircraft industry of this country returns to peacetime production, this program would prove of inestimable value" . . . by developing an increasing interest in aviation and bringing about an expansion in civilian flying.

No more had Mr. Costello's words got out of his mouth than Baron Franz von Werra, a Nazi pilot who had been captured and sent to prison camp in Canada, was arrested in upstate New York and charged with illegally entering this country. It's far too early to predict, but maybe Mr. Costello's swing on the coat-tails of national defense is going to end in the new wings over America. It has had a pretty auspicious take-off.

"The United States will not slide backward in aviation if the young men of America glide forward in their training in the air. In order to make sure of America's supremacy in aviation, I have introduced a bill providing for a program of training glider pilots throughout the nation which would be carried on by the Civil Aeronautics Authority."

Library Gets More Donations

H. D. Coffman Contributes 10-Volume History Set

A recent donation to the Hempstead County Library was a ten volume People's History of the World including two volumes on the races of mankind, by Mr. H. D. Coffman.

This set of books was published by the History Publishing Association in Chicago in 1930. It is profusely illustrated and rather than being divided into ancient, medieval, and modern history, it treats the various nations of the world each as a unit, presenting its national life from the earliest known facts concerning it.

Community Singing at Unity Church Sunday

There will be a community singing at the Unity Baptist church Sunday afternoon from 2 to 4 o'clock. All singers are invited to come and bring books. Several outstanding singers from southwest Arkansas are expected to attend. The public is invited.

WARNING TO ALL DELINQUENT PERSONAL TAX PAYERS

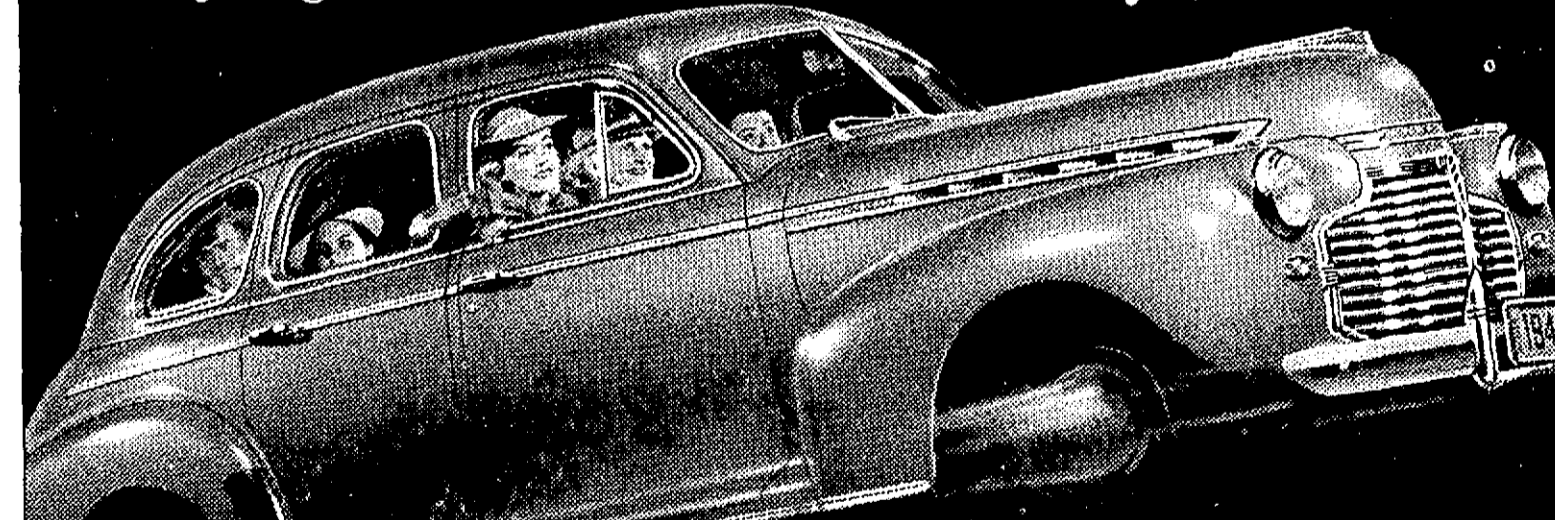

There are still several hundred dollars of 1939 delinquent personal taxes on our books and some 1938. I have gone to a lot of trouble and expense in trying to collect these taxes, but some seem to take it as a joke.

After February 20th., I expect to send some one out with the proper authority to collect these taxes and all of the expense will come out of your pocket. If your wages are garnished or your automobile, truck or some other personal property attached don't blame the collector.
